Forward-looking statements

This Annual Report contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from those anticipated. See Item 1A.

Item 1. Business

ExxonMobil is one of the largest publicly traded energy and chemical companies. It operates through Upstream, Energy Products, Chemical Products and Specialty Products business segments.

Segments

Energy Products. Refining margins and the contribution from the beaumont expansion are the main drivers of this segment's results.

Chemical Products. Higher volumes from the baytown and china chemical complex start-ups, offset by weaker margins are the main drivers of this segment's results.

Specialty Products. Stable lubricants and basestock margins are the main drivers of this segment's results.

Corporate and Financing. Crude oil and natural gas sales and other income are the main drivers of this segment's results.

Competition

The Corporation competes with other integrated and independent oil and gas companies, national oil companies and renewable energy providers for resources, markets and capital. Competitive position depends on cost of supply, technology and project execution.

Seasonality and government regulation

Energy Products results are affected by seasonal demand for heating and motor fuels and by refinery turnaround schedules. The Company is subject to laws and regulations in the jurisdictions in which it operates, including those relating to competition, consumer protection, data privacy, trade, taxation, employment and the environment. Compliance costs are significant and changes in law could affect results.

Human capital

At fiscal year end the Company had approximately 167,000 full-time equivalent employees. The Company's compensation programs include share-based awards for a broad group of employees.

Available information

The Company's annual reports on Form 10-K, quarterly reports on Form 10-Q, current reports on Form 8-K and amendments are available free of charge on its investor relations website as soon as reasonably practicable after they are filed with the SEC.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

The following discussion summarises the material factors that make an investment in the Company's securities speculative or risky. It is not exhaustive.

Commodity prices. Crude oil, natural gas and refining margins are volatile and outside the Corporation's control; sustained low prices reduce earnings, cash flow and the carrying value of assets.

Climate change and energy transition. Regulation, litigation and changing consumer preferences could reduce demand for the Corporation's products and increase costs.

Project execution. Large projects such as the Golden Pass LNG and Guyana developments may be delayed or over budget.

Impairments. Lower price assumptions or changes in development plans can require impairments of long-lived assets, as occurred in the fourth quarter of 2025.

Item 5. Market for Registrant's Common Equity, Related Stockholder Matters and Issuer Purchases of Equity Securities

The Company's common stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol XOM. As of January 20, 2026 there were approximately 45,000 shareholders of record.

The Company paid quarterly cash dividends of $0.97 per share during the year. Future dividends are subject to declaration by the Board of Directors.

Issuer purchases of equity securities (fourth fiscal quarter)

Period	Total shares purchased (thousands)	Average price paid per share	Approximate dollar value remaining under the program ($ millions)
October 2025	3,897	$96.22	19,625
November 2025	3,852	$97.35	19,250

Fiscal years prior to the three years presented in Item 8 are derived from previously issued financial statements; per-share amounts reflect subsequent stock splits.

Item 7A. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Earnings are sensitive to crude oil and natural gas prices: a $1 per barrel change in crude price changes annual Upstream earnings by approximately $0.5 billion, and a $0.10 per thousand cubic feet change in natural gas price by approximately $0.2 billion. The Corporation generally does not hedge commodity exposures.

Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Shareholders and the Board of Directors of Exxon Mobil Corporation

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Exxon Mobil Corporation (the Company) as of December 31, 2025 and December 31, 2024, the related consolidated statements of operations, comprehensive income, shareholders' equity and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2025, and the related notes (collectively, the financial statements). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company at December 31, 2025 and December 31, 2024, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2025, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company. We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB.

Critical Audit Matters

Impairment of long-lived assets — the Corporation recorded an impairment of its Mobile Bay dry gas assets in the fourth quarter after the issuance of its earnings release. We evaluated the price assumptions and the timing of the Corporation's assessment.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of presentation. The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Exxon Mobil Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiaries. Intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. The fiscal year ended December 31, 2025.

Revenue recognition. Revenue is recognized when control of the promised goods or services is transferred to customers, in an amount that reflects the consideration the Company expects to receive. Payments received in advance are recorded as deferred revenue.

Use of estimates. The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 - Earnings Per Share

	FY2025	FY2024
Net income	36,888	37,763
Weighted-average diluted shares (thousands)	4,295,944	4,328,395
Diluted earnings per share	$8.59	$8.72

Note 3 - Segment Information

Segment	FY2025 revenue	FY2024 revenue
Energy Products	195,205	195,919
Chemical Products	19,852	19,894
Specialty Products	16,001	15,529
Corporate and Financing	36,202	36,002
Total	267,260	267,344

Note 4 - Debt

Total term debt was $41.0 billion at year end, consisting of fixed-rate notes with maturities from 2026 to 2057 and a weighted-average interest rate of 3.78%. The Company has a commercial paper program and undrawn revolving credit facilities.

Note 5 - Income Taxes

The effective tax rate was 33.0% compared with the US statutory rate of 21%, with the difference driven by foreign earnings taxed at lower rates, research credits and share-based compensation.

Note 6 - Revenue by Geography

Region	FY2025	FY2024
United States	98,886	96,939
Non-U.S.	168,374	166,743
Total	267,260	267,344

Revenue is attributed to geographic regions based on the billing address of the customer.

Note 8 - Share-Based Compensation

	FY2025	FY2024
Share-based compensation expense	802	802
Income tax benefit related to share-based compensation	265	265
Unrecognized compensation cost at year end	1,844	1,764
Weighted-average remaining recognition period (years)	2.6	2.7

Restricted stock units generally vest over four years. Expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period.

Note 9 - Leases

The Company leases retail, office, data-center, manufacturing and warehouse space under operating leases with remaining terms of up to 21 years. Operating lease liabilities were $12.0 billion at year end; lease cost for the year was $2.9 billion.

Note 7 - Impairments

In the fourth quarter of 2025 the Corporation recorded a pre-tax impairment charge of $2.4 billion ($1.6 billion after tax) related to its Mobile Bay dry gas assets in the Upstream segment, following a revision of the long-term natural gas price assumptions and the decision to cease further development drilling. The charge is included in depreciation and depletion in the consolidated statement of income. The assets were written down to their fair value of $1.1 billion, determined using a discounted cash flow model (Level 3).

The impairment was identified after the Corporation's fourth-quarter earnings release dated January 26, 2026. Fourth-quarter net income attributable to ExxonMobil in these consolidated financial statements is $7.7 billion, compared with $9.3 billion in the earnings release. Earnings excluding identified items are unchanged.

Note 10 - Subsequent Events

Management evaluated subsequent events through the date these financial statements were issued. Subsequent to the issuance of the Corporation's fourth-quarter earnings release on January 30, 2026, and before these financial statements were issued, the Corporation completed its annual impairment assessment and recorded a $2.4 billion pre-tax impairment of its Mobile Bay dry gas assets in the fourth quarter of 2025. Fourth-quarter and full-year net income in these statements are lower than the amounts in the earnings release by $1.6 billion after tax.

Item 9A. Controls and Procedures

Management, with the participation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, evaluated the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by this report and concluded that they were effective. Management's report on internal control over financial reporting concluded that internal control was effective, and the independent auditor issued an unqualified opinion thereon.

Item 10. Directors, Executive Officers and Corporate Governance (extract)
